The Saint Paul Police Department Professional Development Institute is sponsoring a two week Use of Force Instructor School.

Week one will consist of instruction in federal and state laws supporting use of force by police officers. Additionally, students will receive certification as a chemical aerosol and baton instructor. During this portion students will participate in instructor development activities designed to boost confidence and ability to instruct large and small groups. Students will receive instruction about court-defensible documentation regarding use of force training, lesson plan writing, and writing performance improvement plans.

Week two is the firearms portion of the training. Hosted entirely at our range, this component will develop solid and safe instructor skills during courses of fire. Students will learn the difference between qualification and training courses of fire. The student's own firearm handling skills will be challenged throughout the course. During this portion, students will participate in instructor development activities designed to boost confidence and ability to instruct large and small groups.

With your registration, indicate the weapons systems you will be bringing to the training. This should include the following information: *Handgun model and caliber. *Shotgun model and caliber. (Shotgun techniques can easily be translated to other long-gun weapons.) Each student is required to bring 2,000 rounds of ammunition for their handgun, 250 rounds of bird-shot for shotgun, and 100 rounds of 00 buckshot for shotgun. If your department does not use shotguns, shotguns will be provided. (If you plan on using our shotguns, bring all 12 gauge ammunition.)
